ROYAL COURT
(Samedi Division)

127.

1st October, 1993

Before: The Bailiff, and
Jurats Orchard and Vibert

The Attorney General

- v -

Karen Hervé

Admitted breach of a Probation Order made on 6th December, 1991, when the accused pleaded guilty to one count of arson. (See Jersey Unreported Judgment of that date).

The Solicitor General.
Advocate R.J.F. Pirie for the accused.

JUDGMENT

THE BAILIFF: Miss Hervé, I know that you do not take the slightest notice of those in authority, or those trying to help you, but nevertheless we are not going to grant the conclusions of the Solicitor General on this occasion.

We are going to order that the Probation Order will continue until December, 1994. I am giving you a formal warning and if you do not cooperate with the Probation Service, or get into further trouble, then you will come back to this Court because you will be in breach of the Order yet again and provided your family circumstances would not make it unfair to do so, you could be sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

No authorities.
