L. DRUMMELZIER having set a tack of teinds to John Murray of Halmyre, and obliged him to warrant the same, and the teinds being evicted by a decret of spuilzie against Murray's tenants wherein the quantities were referred to their oath, and they holden as confest thereon; whereupon warrandice being sought by Murray against Drummelzier; it was found that the decret of spuilzie was not a sufficient ground, whereupon warrandice might be sought for the quantities contained in the sentence, whereon they were holden as confest; but seeing that the quantities far exceeded the just avail of the teinds, they found that he ought to prove the quantities otherways by some other lawful manner.
