

1785. *November 24.*JOHN CATHCART and Others, against JAMES WEIR and Others.

No 16.

A regular and proper division of the area of a church presumed from long possession.

THE old parish church of Greenock was built in the end of the last century, some years after the erection of that town into a burgh of barony. The parish consisted likewise of a landward district, a part of which belonged to Sir John Schaw; and of the remainder another person was superior; between whom and the former, in consequence of a written contract, a division of the area of the church took place. Sir John's share was then, and has been ever since, occupied by the country tenants and town feuers of his estate, in distinct portions, on which their respective seats were fitted up. But if any regular sub-division was made among them, the evidence of it, as not now existing, must have been lost.

Such had been the situation of this church for more than double the years of the long prescription, when a recent set of feuers, in an action brought by them, contended for a new division of the area, according to their respective proportions of valued rent, alleging, That hitherto the area had not been regularly or legally subdivided.

The cause was reported by the Lord Ordinary, when

THE COURT were of opinion, That there was, from the long possession, sufficient presumptive proof of a regular and proper division; and therefore

THE LORDS assolizied the defenders.

1787. *June 22.*The MINISTER of the PARISH of TINGWALL against The HERITORS.

No 17.

The Court found that where it is necessary to build a new church, its dimensions must be such as will contain two-thirds of the examinable persons in the parish, not under twelve years of age.

THE Presbytery of Zetland having directed a new church of certain dimensions to be built in the parish of Tingwall, the Heritors brought those proceedings under the review of the Court of Session, by a bill of suspension.

THE LORD ORDINARY pronounced this interlocutor:

“ Finds, That when it becomes necessary to build a new church, the heritors of the parish are bound to provide one sufficient for the accommodation of the parishioners capable of attending public worship; and that this is a burden under which they acquired and hold their estates: Finds it admitted, That the parish of Tingwall does at present contain 209 families: Finds, That there are in it 847 persons capable of attending divine worship: Finds, That the church, as proposed by the heritors, is not of dimensions more than sufficient to accommodate 426 persons; and that the church, as proposed by the Presbytery, is of
