ODPOWIEDZIALNOŚCIĄ SPÓŁKA KOMANDYTOWA

Background

1. On 9 June 2021, Joelle Joelle (“the Applicant”) applied to register the mark JOELLE for goods and services in classes 3, 4, 5, 8, 9, 14, 15, 16, 18, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 32, 35, 36, 38, 41, 42, 43, 44 & 45, as set out in full in the annex attached hereto. The application was published for opposition purposes on 11 February 2022. In these proceedings the Applicant is represented by Mr Neil Manani of Trade Mark Wizards Limited.

2. JM INNOVATIVE COSMETICS SPÓŁKA Z OGRANICZONĄ ODPOWIEDZIALNOŚCIĄ SPÓŁKA KOMANDYTOWA (“the Opponent”), is represented by Mr Simon Barker of Patent Outsourcing Limited.

3. The key issue in the dispute giving rise to this decision is the admissibility of the Notice of Threatened Opposition (“Form TM7A”), which was issued by Patent Outsourcing Limited on behalf of the Opponent, contrary to the prescribed procedure.

4. Form TM7A is, in effect, a request for an extension of the period for filing the Notice of Opposition and Statement of Grounds (“Form TM7”). It must be filed within two months of the publication date of the application and must be filed electronically using the system provided on the IPO website. Upon acceptance of the Form TM7A the party filing it has an additional one month in which to file a Form TM7, to formally commence opposition proceedings.<sup>1</sup>

5. In the present case, in accordance with section 38(2) of the Trade Marks Act 1994 (“the Act”) and Rule 17(2) of the Trade Marks Rules 2008 (“the Rules”), given the publication date, expiry of the two-month opposition filing date fell on 11 April 2022. In order to extend this period, the Opponent was required to file a Form TM7A in the prescribed manner before the expiry of this date. On 8 April 2022 a Form TM7A was emailed (not the prescribed manner) to forms@ipo.gov.uk, from the personal account of a paralegal at the Opponent's representative company, to which an automated response was sent on even date.

6. The paralegal's email of 8 April 2022 is one of a chain of emails, which also included an internal communication in the following terms:

"As still no luck with Outlook I have used my search history (as I was looking at these trade marks yesterday) to put the information together and used my personal email...

Please glance over to make sure I've definitely got the correct information please as we can still follow up if needed (deadline 11/4)."

7. On 10 May 2022 (more than two months after the application was published) the Opponent filed a Form TM7, pursuant to sections 5(2)(b), 5(3) and 3(6) of the Act, against the entire application, on the basis of two earlier marks (UK914227896 and UK914551139) in relation to the former claims.

8. By letter dated 14 June 2022 the Registry acknowledged receipt of said TM7 and advised the Opponent in the following terms:

"I acknowledge receipt of the Form TM7 filed on 10 May 2022.

Having reviewed the proceedings, it is noted that on 08 April you submitted a paper copy of a Form TM7a.

In line with Rule 17(4) of the Trade Mark Rules 2008, the period allowed to file an opposition is two months beginning immediately after the date on which the application was published. This period can be extended to three months by the filing of a Form TM7a. Rule 17(4) states that:

...Form TM7A shall be filed electronically using the filing system provided on the Office website or by such other means as the registrar may permit.

As the Form TM7A was not filed using the filing system provided on the Office website, it is the Registry's preliminary view that the period of opposition was not extended to three months for JM INNOVATIVE COSMETICS SPÓŁKA Z OGRANICZONĄ ODPOWIEDZIALNOŚCIĄ SPÓŁKA KOMANDYTOWA.

If either party disagrees with the preliminary view they should request a hearing within 14 days from the date of this letter that is on or before 28 June 2022."

9. In its reply to the Registry on 16 June 2022 the Opponent requested a hearing and set out the reasons as to why it disagrees with the preliminary view, inter alia as follows:

"... a form TM7A was filed on 8 April 2022. On that date our IT system was not working correctly, the server having crashed, and we were unable to access the normal procedure (which we have used on several occasions) for using the filing system provided by the office website. So as to meet the deadline for submission, my colleague, Joze Taylor, a qualified trade mark paralegal, prepared and filed a TMA (sic) by email from her personal account. A formal declaration to this effect can be provided if required. This e-mail was received and acknowledged by the Office (copies attached). Subsequently, as also noted your letter a form TM7 was filed, in the conventional manner, on 10 May 2022.

We hereby request that the Tribunal / Registrar permit the TM7A as filed to be recognised as being validly filed. A ground for this is in Rule 17(4) which provides "form TM7A shall be filed electronically using ... or by such other means as the Registrar may permit" we request that the Registrar use her discretion to permit an exception in this case."

Hearing

10. A remote hearing took place before me on 6 July 2022. The Opponent was represented by Mr Simon Barker of Patent Outsourcing Limited and the Applicant was represented by Mr Neil Manani of Trade Mark Wizards Limited. The parties were not required to file written submissions or skeleton arguments and neither did so.

11. At the hearing Mr Barker accepted that the Opponent's chosen method of filing the Form TM7A did not comply with the Rule 17(4); though he submitted that it had been filed in time by email; and that the IPO acknowledged receipt by reply. Mr Barker conceded that he did not have an explanation as to why the Form TM7A was not submitted via the prescribed procedure from the paralegal's home (given that they did have access to their emails and by extension, to the internet); and that the unfortunate issue is down to human error.

12. Mr Barker submitted further that the bad faith claim is one of 'evergreening',<sup>2</sup> because there is a connection between the mark applied for in the name of Joelle Joelle and an identical or similar registration, which is owned by a director of the Applicant company. This, he submits, is pertinent to the argument on the merits of the Opponent's case, which underpins his submissions as why the opposition should be allowed to proceed.

13. Mr Barker also considered that the fact the application runs to a specification of 84 pages across 25 classes appears to be a deliberate strategy of seeking very broad protection beyond fair competition along the lines of the SkyKick case. However, he accepted that the purpose of this hearing was not to determine the merits of the opposition.

14. I was also reminded by Mr Barker that the application is subject to two other oppositions, which fact, the Opponent submits in its letter of 16 June 2022, precludes the Applicant from suffering prejudice, should its Form TM7A (and Form TM7) be deemed admissible. In oral submissions Mr Barker also argued that there would be no prejudice to the Applicant because it would also be subject to future proceedings should the TM7A not be admitted.

15. Mr Barker's strongest submission is that under Rule 17(4), in the wording "or by such other means as the registrar may permit", there is a clear discretion on the part of the Registrar to admit the Form TM7A that has been filed by email. The reasons for exercising that discretion, as per Mr Barker's oral submissions are as follows:

<sup>2</sup> 'Evergreening' is the strategy of refiling a trade mark application to (re)register an existing trade mark registration for the same or similar goods and services to evade the obligation in opposition proceedings to prove genuine use of the earlier mark after five years on the register or to avoid the registration becoming vulnerable to cancellation for non-use.

- i. The Registry is required to have regard to the principles of the overriding objectives of the Civil Procedure Rules Part 1, in particular the requirement to ensure that the parties are on equal footing and can participate fully in the proceedings.
- ii. In the interest of saving expense: the alternative course of action available to the Opponent is "to wait and start again with cancellations proceedings, which would increase the costs".
- iii. In the interest of ensuring that the case is dealt with expeditiously and fairly. In addition to resulting in a multiplicity of proceedings, disallowing the Form TM7A would also introduce delay contrary to the overriding objective.
- iv. The opposition has a reasonable prospect of success, particularly in relation to the bad faith claim.
- v. It would be inconsistent with the Registry's duty to make decisions having regard to the rights set out in the Human Rights Act 1998, which requires public authorities to have regard to the protection of property rights, under Article 1 of The First Protocol ("Article 1P"),<sup>3</sup> which include intellectual property rights.

16. Mr Manani submitted that the Registry's preliminary view should be upheld; that the Form TM7A should not be admitted because the standard procedure for filing it had not been followed. He considered that other options were open to the Opponent to file the Form TM7A and that its failure to comply with Rule 17(4) had not been explained. He also contended that Mr Barker's submissions on the merits of the substantive matter are not relevant and should be disregarded.

17. Mr Barker submitted in reply to Mr Manani's submissions, that it is contrary to Rule 17(4) to say that the Form TM7A cannot be filed in any other way, because the Rule "clearly provides that it can be, with the Registry's permission". He then disagreed that the merits of the opposition are not relevant, because "if there was no merit in the opposition at all, then there would not be any saving in expense, for example". The issue of the merits of the case underpins his submissions regarding the reasons to exercise a discretion to allow the Form TM7A.

Decision

18. Opposition to registration of an application is provided for by Section 38 of the Act. Section 38(2) states:

"Any person may, within the prescribed time from the date of the publication of the application, give notice to the registrar of opposition to the registration. The notice shall be given in writing in the prescribed manner, and shall include a statement of the grounds of opposition."

19. Rule 17(4) specifies that the prescribed manner under s38(2) is "...Form TM7A shall be filed electronically using the filing system provided on the Office website or by such other means as the registrar may permit".<sup>4</sup>

20. Rule 78 of the Rules (Filing of documents by electronic means) provides that:

<sup>4</sup> Rule 3 also refers: 3.—(1) Any forms required by the registrar to be used for the purpose of registration of a trade mark or any other proceedings before the registrar under the Act pursuant to section 66 and any directions with respect to their use shall be published on the Office website and any amendment or modification of a form or of the directions with respect to its use shall also be published on the Office website. (2) Except in relation to Forms TM6 and TM7A a requirement under this rule to use a form as published is satisfied by the use either of a replica of that form or of a form which is acceptable to the registrar and contains the information required by the form as published and complies with any directions as to the use of such a form [emphasis added].

“The registrar may permit as an alternative to the sending by post or delivery of the application, notice or other document in legible form the filing of the application, notice or other document by electronic means subject to such terms or conditions as the registrar may specify either generally by published notice or in any particular case by written notice to the person desiring to file any such documents by such means.

21. The Manual of Trade Marks Practice stipulates that: “The terms ‘to file’ or ‘filing’ means to ‘deliver to the Registry’; and “certain forms must be filed using the e-Form provided on the IPO website, for example TM7A”.<sup>5</sup>

22. At the hearing Mr Barker submitted that “there is no pretence on our part that, ideally the TM7A should have been filed by the usual means. It wasn’t. We cannot deny it wasn’t, that is a fact. Human error creeps in sometimes; IT systems fail; some people are better at dealing with those than others. I don’t think it’s helpful to say should’ve, could’ve, would’ve. The reality is that a TM7A was filed...” This, to my mind, undermines Rule 17(4) and the authority given to the Registrar to determine the (alternative) method of filing the TM7A. The fact of the matter remains that the Registrar has not permitted the Opponent to file the Form TM7A by means other than the one stipulated in the Rules (which is also explained in various guidance and other public-facing documents issued by the Registrar). The Opponent admits that it has “used on several occasions ... the filing system provided by the office website”. In the circumstances it is reasonable to accept that the Opponent should have checked with the Registry before, or even after, submitting the Form TM7A outside of the stipulated procedure, whether its adopted method was admissible. It did not.

23. It is worth noting, and this is also relevant to the Opponent’s submission on human error (of which I say more later), that the Paralegal’s internal communication makes no mention of the Opponent’s “server having crashed” (nor to the IPO’s system being unavailable). The relevant email instead states: “As still no luck with Outlook I have used my search history (as I was looking at these trade marks yesterday) to put the information together and used my personal email...” On this information it is reasonable to infer that the Opponent did have access to the internet to access the Office's filing portal (internet service was available to access the search history and more significantly, to email the Form).

24. The tenability of the human error argument (albeit on the application of Rule 41(6) in relation to an invalidity application) was considered by Mr Geoffrey Hobbs QC, sitting as the Appointed Person in TESCON Trade Mark [2020] FSR 33; BL O/240/20,<sup>6</sup> as follows:

“32. I readily accept that human error is not necessarily inconsistent with the existence of extenuating circumstances or compelling reasons for permitting invalidity proceedings to be defended in the exercise of the discretion conferred by rule 41(6). I would, for example, regard it as appropriate for the discretion to be exercised in favour of permitting a claim for invalidity to be defended in circumstances where it was clearly established that the failure to comply with a filing deadline of (say) 12 February 2020 was the result of an unnoticed keystroke error which caused the due date to be incorrectly entered in an otherwise reliable record keeping system as (say) 21 February 2020. It is nonetheless clear that the test to be applied cannot be taken to permit or require all human errors to be treated as excusable for the purposes of rule 41(6). There must, in other words, be a fact specific evaluation for the purpose of determining whether the particular error in question should or should not be treated as excusable in the circumstances of the case at hand.

33. This is the point at which the Proprietor's request for relief under rule 41(6) ran into difficulty. The general tenor of the representations made on its behalf was that its attorneys had taken reasonable and proper steps to ensure that the required Form TM8 and Counterstatement were filed before expiry of the specified deadline, but were inadvertently deflected from doing so until after the deadline had expired. However, the Registrar was presented with assertions rather than evidence and materials of sufficient clarity and precision to substantiate that or any proposition to the like effect. In the end, as emphasised in the Respondent's Notice, the Hearing Officer was left with no satisfactory explanation for the default which had occurred."

25. Therefore, for similar reasons, I do not accept that the Opponent's failure to comply with the procedure for filing the Form TM7A was "down to human error", and this argument has no foundation given the circumstances surrounding the failure to satisfy the procedural requirement. There was no evidence to corroborate the claim that the Opponent's IT system had failed, nor that it had failed at the material time, or that failure continued up to and including the date of the actual deadline, being three days after the email in question was sent. It is also evident on a balance of probabilities, that the Opponent did have internet service to access the online portal (Mr Barker offered no explanation as to why it was possible to send an email and not access the e-filing portal); the email correspondence was copied to other officers at the representative company, including its CEO, who had opportunity to check, not only the validity of the preferred method of filing, but also whether it was permissible; and as the Opponent admits, it has extensive experience of IPO proceedings.

26. Mr Barker highlighted the fact that the Opponent had received an email from the Office acknowledging receipt of its email of 8 April 2022. However, I note that this was an automated reply and not a substantive response (the Opponent would have been aware, given its extensive experience of IPO proceedings, of the standard form and substance of a substantive response in this scenario). Furthermore, no prior permission was given to file the Form TM7A by an alternative method, and in these circumstances, it was incumbent upon the Opponent to verify the validity of its mode of filing.

27. I also note that the Applicant was not copied into the email in dispute, which the Opponent submitted it was not required to do.<sup>7</sup> However, I consider that this might have made a difference given that the Opponent had deviated from the prescribed practice. This also goes to the Opponent's submission on "the principles of overriding

<sup>7</sup> On the evidence provided, Mr Barker accepted that the Form TM7A was not copied to the Applicant, but he could not say that it was not set to the Applicant. I gave Mr Barker the opportunity to confirm after the hearing whether the Form TM7A was sent to the Applicant. He stated that he could, and also submitted that the normal position is that it would not have been, because if it had been filed online, it would have been copied to the other side. Mr Manani submitted that the Applicant was not put on notice.

objectives..., in particular the requirement to ensure that the parties are on equal footing and can participate fully in the proceedings”.

28. The Form TM7A allows the Applicant the opportunity to make contact with the Opponent, to establish the grounds of the opposition (for example); to enable it to make an informed decision as to whether to dis/continue the application without putting the Opponent (or the Applicant) through the onerous time and cost burdens of litigation.

29. The online filing system allows the Registry to generate a notification (of the Form TM7A) to the Applicant almost instantly. It is important to note that the address used by the Opponent is a generic email, which is not directly accessed by the Tribunal. Had the Opponent sent correspondence directly to the Tribunal, the matter might have been picked up before the deadline. This accords with Mr Barker’s submission that the Opponent is not normally required to serve the Form TM7A on the Applicant, because “if it had been filed online, it would have been copied to the other side”.

30. In considering whether any unfairness or prejudice is caused to the Opponent, I note that the opportunity has been afforded, by way of this hearing, to the Opponent (who at all material times has been professionally represented) to rectify the situation by providing cogent arguments for the Tribunal to validate its mode of filing under the provision in Rule 17(4): “by such other means as the registrar may permit”. I considered, in fact, that if there is any inconsistency in complying with the overriding objective, it is more likely to be found on the part on the Opponent, who has effectively unilaterally departed from the prescribed mode of filing the Form TM7A, without contemporaneously consulting either the Tribunal or the Applicant.

31. I must also take into consideration the fairness of subjecting the Applicant to opposition proceedings when it has had no prior warning of those proceedings, and more importantly, based upon an action filed outside of the strict two-month opposition window, when the Applicant could have reasonably expected oppositions or notices of threatened opposition to have been filed.

32. On the matter of the Opponent's submissions regarding the merits of its case (based upon sections 5(2)(b), 5(3) and 3(6) of the Act), including the significance of the "evergreening" allegation, I consider it sufficient to note that there is an arguable case to be determined, and the purpose of the present hearing is not to determine the merits of the case. I also note that both earlier rights relied upon in the proposed opposition are subject to the proof of use provisions under section 6A of the Act, for which the Opponent must show that genuine use has been made of its marks, to enjoy the regime of protection under the Act, irrespective of any similarity between the competing marks and the goods and services concerned.

33. The Opponent submitted that refusing to admit the Form TM7A runs the risk of violating its property rights under the Human Rights Act. I do not agree. The Opponent is not being deprived of its earlier rights, and as Mr Barker rightly submitted at the hearing, alternative avenues are available to the Opponent under the Act to attack the application/registration; though he contended that this results unfavourably in a multiplicity of proceedings (I say more on this point later). Deciding against the Opponent in these proceedings simply means that one avenue, namely opposition proceedings, will be closed to the Opponent (due to its failure to follow a straightforward procedural requirement). There is no unfairness under Article 1P. In any event, Mr Barker has not satisfied me by reference to any authority or otherwise that the relevant provisions of the Act, which implement Council Directive 89/104/EEC ("the Directive"), are not justified in the public interest and proportional to the aims that the legislation seeks to achieve.

34. The Opponent is also not assisted by the argument that to admit the Form TM7A would avoid a multiplicity of proceedings, because opposition proceedings do not create an issue estoppel;<sup>8</sup> so even if the opposition proceeded on the basis of the Form TM7A being accepted, and subsequently failing, nothing would prevent the Opponent from seeking to invalidate the Applicant's trade mark once it became registered.

35. In reaching a decision, I have taken all the above matters into account, including the overriding objective (which is to ensure fairness to both parties) to deal with this case expeditiously and justly. I considered that the question to be determined is whether there is a good reason for the Tribunal to validate the method of filing the Form TM7A adopted by the Opponent which departed from the procedure as stipulated by the Rules. I have found no single reason or combination of reasons sufficient to enable me to admit the Form TM7A into these proceedings. The Opponent has failed to fulfil the procedural requirement (one it was entirely familiar with) and did not provide sufficient or cogent evidence to demonstrate that it had made a real attempt to file the Form TM7A in accordance with the Rules. Of particular note is that the Opponent did not seek the Registrar's permission to adopt the alternative method, nor make enquiries after the deadline that the way in which it had been filed was permissible.

36. In all the circumstances I find that the Opponent has failed to show any compelling reason to justify its deviation from the Rules and consider that the strict adherence to the procedural requirement outweighs the Opponent's interest in having the matter determined via opposition proceedings.

Conclusion

37. I uphold the Registry's preliminary view: The Form TM7A and Form TM7 are not to be admitted as a formal opposition against the application. Therefore, the opposition has failed.

Costs

38. As my decision terminates the proceedings, I must consider the matter of costs. The Applicant has been successful and is entitled to a contribution towards its costs, based upon the scale published in Tribunal Practice Notice 2/2016. Applying this TPN as a guide, I award costs as follows:

Preparing for and attending the hearing

£300

39. I order JM INNOVATIVE COSMETICS SPÓŁKA Z OGRANICZONĄ ODPOWIEDZIALNOŚCIĄ SPÓŁKA KOMANDYTOWA to pay JOELLE JOELLE the sum of £300 as a contribution towards its costs. This sum should be paid within 21 days of the expiry of the appeal period or, if there is an appeal, within 21 days of the final determination of the appeal proceedings.
